

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and Love

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill-health, painful or irregular menstruation, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin its use.

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown, Vice-President Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"For nine years I dragged through a miserable existence, suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, and worn out with pain and weariness. I once noticed a statement by a woman suffering as I was, but who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I determined to try it. At the end of three months I was a different woman. Every one remarked about it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound built up my entire system, cured the womb trouble, and I felt like a new woman. I am sure it will make every suffering woman strong, well and happy, as it has me."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A VISIT TO THE

OSTRICH FARM

One of the Show Places of Du-

ARE TO BE FOUND IN FLORIDA.

STORY OF A PLEASANT MOR-NING OUTING.

The morning was charming, part clouds and part sunshine, with a pleasant breeze blowing over and anon, when we Rosalie and I, boarded a car for the "Ostrich Farm," near the beautiful city of Jacksonville, says a writer in the Jacksonville Times-Union.

When we had gone quite a distance we left the car to walk about the suburb called Fairfield, that we might have a better view of the surrounding country. We passed some pretty homes and grand old trees, whose gnarled roots and sweeping branches made us think the Druids might have worshipped just such trees. We saw lots and lots of fragrant honeysuckle and the scarlet blossom of the pomegranate was attractive, surrounded by a wealth of green leaves. As we walked we came to a large field covered over thickly with wild phlox, which grows luxuriantly in the county of Duval. A broad, white walk divided this field, and on either side of the walk grew long straight rows of pear trees. Just beyond lay the beautiful

St. Johns river, looking silvery that special morning, as the white light the changes like the atmosphere, the clouds and the sunlight. We have seen it sometimes look darkly blue; at times, like a sea of gold; again, it is of so dark a color as to look almost black. While we were gazing with delight at the earth carpeted with bright flowers, at the white light the landscape as one would wish to behold.

A small cove of birds flew out from the rosy phlox and gracefully welled their way to the river. The deep pink of the phlox, the rich green of the handsome fruit trees, the soft plumage of the birds, their graceful sweep in the air, and the lovely St. Johns river in the background made a prettily landscapes as one would wish to behold.

We stood some moments in silent admiration, then, walked on and soon reached the Ostrich Farm.

At the Farm.

We entered a room, paid our fee, skipped across the green grass and seated ourselves in the pavilion to watch the ostriches that were in an enclosure directly in front of us.

There were, we supposed, about seventy-five birds. Some were gray, others black, and they certainly were as attractive as the birds they were viewed from their backs, disclosing to view great bunches of feathers as soft and white as the fleecy clouds that were floating over our heads. We liked
